

You'll Save Money by Buying Two Suits

Everybody knows that a Suit wears out faster if it is worn everyday. It lasts more than twice as long if alternated with another suit.

This gives you a chance to get your old Suit pressed which adds to it's wear. Besides Suits will be much higher this fall and very much higher next spring. So there is money saved as well as better dressing in owning two Suits.

We will sell you two Clothcraft Suits for $30 to $60 for both. You will be pleased and the wear is guaranteed.

SCOUT FUNERAL FOR COMRADE

FUNERAL OF WILLIAM McCOLLUM ATTENDED BY SIXTY BOY SCOUTS YESTERDAY.

The funeral of William McCollum was held yesterday afternoon at 3:30 at the Methodist church and conducted by Rev. Paul S. Powell who was assisted by Dr. C. M. Thompson, Rev. Rev. Everett S. Smith and Rev. A. S. Anderson. The funeral was largely attended both at the church and at the grave by the many friends of both the deceased and the bereaved family.

The distinguishing feature of this funeral was that it was attended by about 60 Boy Scouts dressed in full scout uniform and marched in regular military style at the head of the procession from the residence to the church, and from the church to the grave. This was to honor the memory of Scout William McCollum who belonged to the scout organization here.

This is the first time death has invaded the band of Scouts here in Hopkinsville and the scout funeral yesterday was the first of the kind ever held in this city.

The Boy Scouts carried themselves in true military style and their conduct was really and truly scout-like. Rev. Mr. Anderson, as Scout Master, deserves much credit for the training the boys have received under his care and direction.

PRINCESS TODAY.

When a woman loves, she is ready to make any sacrifice. That is the moral of "Her Silent Sacrifice," the gripping heart-interest photodrama in which Alice Brady, will appear. Her loved one, an American artist, has great talents, but needs the support of some influential person to further his career. The arrival of Prince Boissard, an old roue, gives her the opportunity, and the unsophisticated little country girl promises to give herself to him in return for his aid to the young artist. The Prince fulfills his part of the bargain, and in the meantime plies the girl with every luxury and attraction of smart Parisian society life. After the artist receives the Grand Prize, the girl carries out her part of the agreement by publicly acknowledging the Prince as her lover; but the Fate which watches over true lovers saves her from the greatest sacrifice. Through the Prince's Hindoo servant, the tangle is finally unraveled, and "the man and the maid" embarked together upon the blissful seas of matrimony.

PRIVATE COY DOSSETT

SHOOTS HIS WIFE AND SISTER AT HATTIESBURG, MISS.

Hattiesburg, Miss., April 29.—Mrs. Mildred Cooper Dossett, of Evansville, Ind., wife of Coy Dossett, of Hopkinsville, Ky., formerly with the Veterinary corps of the 75th infantry brigade at Camp Shelby, and Miss Ellis Dossett of Hopkinsville, Ky., his sister, were shot and slightly wounded by the soldier in front of a cabaret here.

The soldier, it is said, approached his wife from whom he had been estranged, and asked her to live with him again. She declined and he then told her that she would have to leave this locality. She told him she would do as he pleased and Dossett then drew a revolver and began shooting. He fired five shots. Two struck his wife in the shoulder and arm, inflicting slight flesh wounds. Dossett's sister sought to interfere and was accidentally shot through the breast. Her injury is declared to be slight.

Dossett surrendered to Private Emmett C. Kelley, of the military police. He was lodged in the county jail to await action of the military authorities. He said he shot his wife because he believed her to be unfaithful.
